HONOLULU (January 27, 2012) –Straub Clinic & Hospital and Kaua'i Medical Clinic, both affiliates of Hawai'i Pacific Health, are pleased to announce that the MyChart mobile application is now available for Android smartphone users. Branded as MyHealthAdvantage for Hawai'i Pacific Health patients, the free mobile app allows patients to:

- View test results
- Send secure messages to their doctor and medical care team
- Manage appointments
- Access a health summary
- Review medications
- Receive health reminders
- Manage your family's health care information

"We are pleased that the MyChart app is now available for the Android market," said Dr. Dale Glenn, medical director for HealthAdvantage, a wellness program for Hawai'i Pacific Health. As with Apple users (iPhones & iPads), Android users can now securely access their health information from their phone, anywhere, at any time. This will benefit patients who are actively managing their health conditions and allow them to stay on top of their appointments, medications and other important tests or procedures. You can even manage information for elderly parents or young children with proper access."

Currently, there are 71 health care providers across the nation participating in the mobile application. In addition to Hawai'i Pacific Health, other providers include Baylor Clinic, Loyola Medicine, Mercy Health System, Oregon Health & Science University and Sutter Health among others.

The MyChart app is available for free via the Android Market. Once the app has been downloaded, users select Hawai'i Pacific Health as their health care provider. To use the MyChart app, users must have a MyHealthAdvantage account. To sign up for MyHealthAdvantage, call 535-7725 for an activation code, or register online at www.hawaiipacifichealth.org.
