PHYSICIANS

Orthopedic Surgery

Hawai'i Pacific Health's orthopedic surgery team is made up of doctors and other health care professionals who provide comprehensive orthopedic services. Their expertise includes the treatment and care of diseases, injuries, fractures and pain. Orthopedists (also known as orthopedic surgeons) also design rehabilitation programs for injured or physically disabled patients and participate in ongoing musculoskeletal research.

Sports Medicine and Physiatry

Sports medicine physicians have completed special training to help people with physical injuries regain function so they can get back to an active lifestyle as soon as possible. They also can provide injury and illness prevention advice for active individuals. These doctors work with patients of all ages and all athletic abilities – from professional athletes to children and teens involved with sports, to those who exercise for personal fitness as well as those who have physically demanding jobs, like construction workers.
